Federal Programs

Federal Pell Grants

The Federal Pell Grant is a federal program designed to provide financial assistance to undergraduate students who demonstrate financial need to attend college. The U.S. Department of Education uses a standard formula established by Congress to evaluate information reported on the FAFSA. The formula produces an EFC - Expected Family Contribution number. The Student Aid Report contains the EFC number, which determines eligibility. The amount of the Federal Pell Grant award depends on students' EFC, their cost of attendance, their full-time or part-time status, and whether they attend school for a full academic year or less. Students need to be enrolled in an eligible college credit curriculum program consisting of at least 16 credit hours in length. Students with bachelor's degrees are not eligible. A Pell Grant award does not have to be repaid.

Pell Grant awards are based on full-time enrollment, 12 credit hours or more. This criterion applies to all programs. Students enrolled in less than 12-credit hours may use the Pell Grant Calculator to determine their estimated Pell Grant.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant

A Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG) is for undergraduates with exceptional financial needs who are students with the lowest Expected Family Contributions (EFC). FSEOG awards do not have to be repaid, and priority is given to students who receive a Federal Pell Grant.

The Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant program is a campus-based program administered directly by the Central Piedmont Financial Aid Office. The amount of aid awarded depends on students' financial needs, the amount of other aid they receive, and the availability of funds. Students with bachelor's degrees are not eligible.

Federal Work-Study

The Federal Work-Study (FWS) program utilizes federal funds to provide part-time employment for undergraduate and graduate students with financial need to help meet their educational expenses. Students with bachelor's degrees are eligible. Students enrolled in at least six credit hours may work an average of 15 to 20 hours per week. FWS employment is determined by students' total financial need, class schedule, credit hours of enrollment, and academic progress each term.

Awarded FWS funds are limited to the availability of positions, funds, and completion of the entrance/interview process. There are no term limitations on earnings, provided annual limits on the student's award letter are not exceeded.

Students are paid each month. The amount paid is according to the position and the number of hours worked.

All available FWS positions are advertised on the Central Piedmont Human Resources website under Careers at Central Piedmont.

America Reads | America Counts | Community Service

America Reads, America Counts, and Community Service are Federal Work-Study programs offered in the fall and spring semesters. These programs allow Central Piedmont students to partner with local elementary schools and nonprofit agencies to increase children's literacy and outreach to the community. Students gain valuable work experience by participating in service activities that support literacy and community outreach.

America Reads, a national campaign initiated in 1997, challenges every American to help children learn to read well and independently by the end of elementary school. There are approximately 1,200 colleges and universities participating in the America Reads Challenge nationwide.

Building on the success of the America Reads Challenge, America Counts was initiated in 1999 to assist students in mastering challenging mathematics, including the foundations of algebra and geometry, and improve student achievement in mathematics by the end of the ninth grade.

The Federal Work-Study Community Service Program allows students to work in a not-for-profit organization while earning their Federal Work-Study money. Community service jobs are in fields such as health care, child care, literacy training, education (including tutorial services), welfare, social services, transportation, housing, and neighborhood improvement, public safety, crime prevention and control, recreation, rural development, and community improvement, support services for students with disabilities as well as activities in which students serve as mentors for purposes such as tutoring, supporting educational and recreational activities and counseling (including career counseling). The benefits of taking a community service position are:

- Helping improve the quality of life for community members
- Earning Federal Work-Study money
- Gaining solid work experience in areas such as public service, psychology, education, administration, etc.
- Acquiring professional contacts in one's community and school, as well as networking opportunities
- Making a difference
